

Indiana University Kokomo
School of Nursing
Junior Student Semester 1 Fall Calendar for Clinical Rotations

The following schedule includes clinical, orientation, clinical testing, and other relevant dates pertinent to clinical or classroom schedule issues. We are sending this early, so that you can plan your calendar. Please make a special note of orientation dates and times, Flu Clinic dates and times, and simulation dates and times, as these may vary somewhat from your usual weekly schedule, and they are all required. Also, please make a point of checking the IU Kokomo School of Nursing Website regularly, since occasionally there are changes in the clinical schedule/location/instructor/time due to unforeseen issues.

The Preceptored clinical group, registered under Narwold, will attend a hospital orientation as scheduled. The preceptored group will participate in simulation activities, and all the other dated events listed here. The preceptored group will schedule clinical with preceptors, separate from the list here. Lynda Narwold will tell you about your participation in the Flu Clinic.

In order to find your schedule, match your clinical registration numbers up for both clinical sessions. Please note that some clinical instructors teach more than one section, so getting the correct section is essential! The days of the week, dates, approximate times are subject to change if necessary. (R = Thursday, F=Friday, S=Saturday; days is anywhere from 6 am to about 3 pm, evenings is anywhere from about 2 pm to about 11 pm, and 12 hour clinical times will, by their nature, encompass day and evening times). Please plan to be available throughout the scheduled time. Exact start and stop times will be made available close to the start of the clinical.

One more note: if your health information, CPR, immunizations, or TB testing is out of date, this must be corrected promptly. Non compliance will interfere with your attendance in clinical and will affect your grade.
